Formula 1

Formula 1 is the pinnacle of motorsport, where cutting-edge technology meets high-speed excitement. With races held on some of the world's most iconic circuits, F1 brings together the best drivers and teams in a battle for glory, pushing the limits of what's possible in racing.

Formula 2

Formula 2 serves as the proving group for the next generation of Formula 1 stars. This highly competitive series features closely matched cars, ensuring thrilling races and providing young drivers the perfect platform to showcase their talent and vie for a seat in F1.

Formula 3

Formula 3 is the entry-level category for young drivers aiming to make their mark in single-seater racing. Known for its intense wheel-to-wheel action, F3 is the first step on the ladder to Formula 1, emphasizing driver skill and providing a crucial learning experience.

F1 Academy

The F1 Academy is dedicated to nurturing female talent and providing opportunities for women in motorsport. This all-female series focuses on developing skills and creating pathways for female drivers to advance in the world of formula racing, promoting diversity and inclusion.

Blog Question of the Month: Why do you love formula 1?

"The emotions behind every race and driver, that's one thing to love, but mostly the passion of every driver in every race."

"It's all about lovely people, fans, engineers, drivers and more who share the same passion."

"It's full of passion from all sides - drivers, teams, fans - and while there's rivalry there's also respect. You learn to expect the unexpected on a race weekend, which makes for intrigue and excitement. Plus the drivers I've met have been lovely and had time for their fans."

"The speed and beauty of the cars, the bravery of the drivers, the history and the heroes but most of all the work done by the whole team"
